

Thinks Sirhan Senate Has a Lot of Hams Who Are Fussing Over Kind You Eat

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — By killing Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, Sirhan Bishara Sirhan "thought he was really more or less the savior of society," says a psychiatrist who has made a study of assassinations.

"He was going to destroy the current political leaders of the country," Dr. Eric Marcus testified Thursday at Sirhan's murder trial, nearing the end of its 11th week. "He thought he knew what was best for society."

Marcus was scheduled to wind up his testimony today. He was appointed by the Superior Court to examine Sirhan soon after Kennedy was assassinated last June 5, but testified for the defense.

The defense said it would call next Dr. Bernard Dymond, a psychiatrist who is considered a leading expert in the concept of diminished responsibility.

That's the plea by which Sirhan's defenders hope to save him from the gas chamber.

Dymond, assistant dean in the school of criminology at the University of California Berkeley campus, hypnotized Sirhan to have him recall the shooting of Kennedy.

Grant Cooper, chief defense attorney, said Dymond was the only major witness remaining and that he would be on the stand about three or four days.

Marcus told the jury of eight men and four women that Sirhan "is mentally disturbed and became more disturbed in spring last year. The mental disturbance was relevant and directly related to his political views and feelings toward Robert Kennedy."

Sirhan had written in his diaries that Kennedy, the president and other national leaders should be assassinated.

Sirhan's erratic, irrational and rambling writings, Marcus said, are "very, very typical and similar to the notebooks, diaries and letters of insane people who have written threatening letters to presidents."

In cross examination he agreed with co-prosecutor David M. Fitts that the 25-year-old Jordanian felt himself a part of the Arab-Israeli war. But he disagreed that Sirhan's Arab background and intense nationalism diminished the value of the psychological tests.

homes to compensate for the shortage of labor and high land costs. Depending on the market, a medium-priced home is now from $30,000 to $50,000."

Michael Sumichrast, chief economist for the National Association of Home Builders, said the average mortgage interest rate has risen from 6 per cent to 8 per cent in the last two years.

And the increase of banks' prime lending rate Monday to an all-time high of 7 1/2 per cent from 7 per cent indicates that home buyers face even higher financing charges.

Sumichrast said that since last November, when mortgage interest rates averaged 7 per cent, the monthly payment on a 25-year 80 per cent mortgage on a $25,000 house has risen from $148.80 to $165.40 because of increased interest rates alone.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Cook, a Baker and a Byrd are on the outs about hams, and they're asking the Senate to settle the dispute:

These aren't the political kind of hams, however—they're cured country hams from Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia.

The squabble started when Sen. Marlow W. Cook, R-Ky., wrote, and H. A. F. Byrd, D-Va., claiming that Kentucky country hams are better than their Tennessee and Virginia competitors.

Cook, predicting "the winner

must assuredly be Kentucky

country ham," suggested that each senator take some of his state's best hams to the Senate chef—along with personal cooking hints—to be served to the entire Senate as a team of judges.

Baker said he hated to reveal the inadequacy of the Kentucky and Virginia hams, but accepted the challenge.

"Everyone knows," he added, that the rich, red Tennessee ham is the best in the country and that red-eye gravy originated in Tennessee when commissioners tired of the dull, brown broth produced by Virginia and Kentucky ham."

Byrd was equal to the challenge, too.

"I have thrown down my gauntlet," he said in a letter to Cook. "You will find it in the Senate chef's kitchen. I will shortly replace the glove with a

Two Shakes Won't Hurt Computer

SOCORRO, N.M. (AP) — A computer at New Mexico Tech has had to shake lately, but will recover.

Scientists are merely subjecting it to simulated earth tremors in an effort to unlock one of the planet's mysteries.

The scientists are an explosives engineer and a seismologist embarked on a research project that might lead one day to accurate prediction of earthquakes.

"Learning more about earthquakes doesn't necessarily mean we can prevent them, but it might well lead to predicting them," said Merle Hanson, the engineer.

Hanson and Dr. Allan Sanford, an earthquake specialist, have taught the computer to simulate earthquakes. They have been working on the project for two years.

"There is very little man can do until he understands more about the causes and nature of earthquakes," Hanson said.

"We try to duplicate those things we can't see or measure."

To do this, the computer takes a hypothetical block of the earth's crust and induces a shock at one point, much as scientists think a shock in the earth's crust produces an earthquake.

The computer then measures the effect of the simulated shock, printing the results on a chart just as a seismograph measuring a real earthquake does.

When Hanson and Sanford discover a computer earthquake that matches a real earthquake recorded in the central New Mexico area, they study both in detail.

He said the work with the computer may help solve the cause of a series of earthquakes in the Denver, Colo., area in recent years.

Some seismologists said the tremors were induced by pumping chemical wastes under pressure into deep disposal wells near Denver.

"There seems to be strong correlation between these waste deposits and the sudden occurrence of earthquakes," Hanson said. "But no one could develop firm conclusions."

Memphis Is Shocked by Deaths of 15

MEMPHIS (AP) — A shock wave of death hit and stunned the city of Memphis.

Those struck hardest were the families of 15 leading citizens killed in the Thursday crash of a chartered private plane at New Orleans, leaving 37 children fatherless.

But the ripples of tragedy quickly spread through a metropolitan area of more than one million people. The 15 men, most of them owners of their own businesses, knew a lot of people, had a lot of friends.

Gov. Buford Ellington ordered a Tennessee National Guard transport aircraft based at Memphis to go to New Orleans today. Its mission: Return the bodies.

"This tragic accident . . . has taken the lives of so many talented and dedicated citizens," Ellington said.

"The loss to the city is irreparable," said Mayor Henry Loeb.

The flight had started out for British Honduras, where the party planned to take part in a jaguar hunt and fishing expedition sponsored by the West Tennessee Sportsmen's Association.

The grief and shock were felt intensely in the close-knit suburban community of Millington, where five families received death messages.

A planned night of gaiety for the Downtown Association at its annual awards banquet and salute to working women was turned into a subdued, memorial to Baber and the other victims.

Five of those who lived through it returned to Memphis Thursday. Dr. Kenneth C. Caldwell, a dentist, described any attempt he and Frederic W. Thirkield III, 19, made to rescue the youth's father:

"Standing there with the boy, trying to pull his father out. It was tragic. The flames came in on him, and he waved to his son just before he was engulfed."

Another who helped try to free the elder Thirkield, a mechanical engineer, was Billy Jo Spence, owner of a saddlery and clothing firm.

Specifically, she was accused of hiding a microphone inside a television set in a Conrad-Hilton Nixon moved to heal the breach when he scheduled a stop today on his trip to California for a visit at the 84-year-old former president's Independence, Mo., home. The chief executive took along the White House piano often used by Truman as a gift.

As an up and coming Republican congressman in the years after World War II who built a political name as a Red hunter, Nixon was never close to the Democratic president.

Any ties between the two came to an end in 1952 when Nixon, running as the GOP vice presidential candidate, charged the retiring president with coddling Communists in the government.

Truman and other Democratic leaders were "traitors to the high principles in which many of the nation's Democrats believe," Nixon charged.

Truman reacted angrily to what he considered an attack on his patriotism. He was quoted as calling Nixon an SOB and once said he never wanted to see Nixon because "it would just start a fight."

Nixon and Mr. Truman May End Long Feud

WASHINGTON (AP) — A grand piano has turned out to be the unlikely peace symbol that has ended one of the nation's nastiest political feuds—the split between President Nixon and Harry S. Truman.

Over the years, charges of treason, cronyism and political iniquity by Nixon and threats of physical reprisals by Truman have marked relations between the two—with playing the piano the only apparent common point of interest.

Temple Owls Trying Hard for NIT Bid

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The Temple Owls, who tired of playing third fiddle in Philadelphia all basketball season, are playing perfectly in New York, and now only Boston College stands in their way of top billing in the National Invitation Tournament.

"I don't think we did a thing wrong all night—the perfect game," said Coach Harry Litwack of the overlooked Owls after they pulled away from Tennessee 63-58 in the semifinals Thursday night for their third straight upset.

Their perfect play came after Boston College, the first team picked for the NIT and the one that has received top billing, beat Army at its own control game 73-61.

The results left Temple and BC to play for all the marbles on national television Saturday at 2 p.m. EST, in Madison Square Garden. Army and Tennessee, the 1-2 defensive teams in the country, meet at noon for third place.

"You have to give the boys credit," Litwack said after the Owls, now 21-8, scored 10 straight points behind a press to turn a 49-44 deficit into a 54-49 lead.

"They've been getting second and third billing to LaSalle and Villanova all year in Philadelphia," Litwack said.

John Baum, Temple's 6-foot-5 jumping Jack, hit the final three points in that decisive 10-point run.

Before that, the Owls had dissipated an eight-point lead to only a 29-26 spread at halftime.

The lead changed nine times before Joe Cromer's two baskets for Temple tied the count at a 49 as the Owls began pressing.

Bill Strunk scored to put the Owls ahead to stay and Baum added his three points.

Eddie Mast of Temple finished with 24 points, 12 in the final half, and Cromer had 11 of his 15 after the intermission against Tennessee's 1-3 zone.

Bob Croft and reserve Rudy Kinard, who hit all but two of the Vols 30 points in the second half, finished with 21 and 19, respectively.

Boston College, running the nation's current longest winning streak to 19 in a 24-3 season, chose to forsake its fast break against the bruising Army defense and disciplined offense and waited patiently until midway through the final half to pull away.

"We wanted to beat them at their own game, not show ours down their throats," said BC Coach Bob Cousy, who will retire after the final. Playmaker Billy Evans, who had 13 points and seven assists, said, "We had to play a slow, patient game. You have trouble getting involved. We're so used to running."

Although trailing 29-26 at the half, the Eagles finally went ahead to stay 42-40 when Tom Veronneau scored and was fouled as Army's Mike Gyoval fouled out.

Veronneau missed the free throw, but 6-7 teammate Terry Driscoll rebounded for a basket. Driscoll later hit a free throw for a 47-41 lead as Army's second starter, 6-6 center Dick Simmons, fouled out with 9:36 left. Driscoll led BC with 28 points. Doug Clevenger had 25 for Army.

Heard Takes Out After Oldtimers

By WILL GRIMSLY
Associated Press Sports Writer
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Jerry Heard, 21, six feet tall and 180 pounds, quit Fresno State College last fall in his junior year and decided to take out after Nicklaus, Casper & Co. on the $6 million protocour.

"I've wanted to play on the golf tour since I was 11 years old—I couldn't wait," the strapping young athlete said today. "I came from an athletically minded family. My dad played pro baseball and even had a contract to go with the Cardinals.

"But he got married instead. "No, I don't intend to go back to college. This is my life now. I think I can make the grade."

Heard is one of the brash, new breed of hungry tigers who have abandoned other pursuits—including higher education—and plunged into the rich golf tour.

They look at Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Bill Casper, and Gary Player and say—apparently—what better way is there to become a millionaire?

Heard popped up among the leaders of a tightly bunched pack after the first round of the $100,000 Greater Jacksonville Open tournament Thursday.

He fired a 68, four under par, which placed him in a tie with six others, just one stroke back of pace-setting Jay Hebert, the 41-year-old veteran from Lafayette, La., leading at 67. Jerry is one stroke ahead of Nicklaus, two in front of Palmer, three better than Casper and four in front of Player—not bad for a two-run homer.

Later in the day, St. Louis Manager Red Schoendienst was hospitalized in St. Petersburg, Fla., with severe stomach pains. Schoendienst was to remain in the hospital overnight for observation.

Carl Yastrzemski had a triple, two singles and a walk in Boston's 5-4 triumph over Detroit's Dick McAuliffe, Norm Cash homered for the Tigers.

San Francisco used home runs by Willie McCovey and Ron Hunt and four San Diego errors that let in five unearned runs to defeat the Padres 8-5.

The New York Yankees won their sixth straight for a 10-3 exhibition record by downing Minnesota 4-2 as Bobby Cox drove in two runs and rookie Bill Burbach hurled five scoreless innings.

The Houston Astros unloaded 11 hits and beat Montreal 10-7.

Atlanta broke a tie in the 10th inning on singles by Walt Hriniak and Mike Lum and a throwing error and pushed across another run to edge the Royals 5-3.

Tommie Sisk, Luke Walker and rookie Denny Riddleberger combined to pitch an eight-hitter as Pittsburgh blanked Cincinnati 5-0. Andy Messersmith, Hoyt Wilhelm and Pedro Borbon scattered six hits in California 4-1 triumph over Cleveland.

Golf Teams in Action on Weekend

By RALPH ROUTON
Star Sportswriter

Earlier this afternoon the Hope High golf team opened its 1969 slate at the Hope Country Club against Camden, and the locals continue play tomorrow morning with a non-conference match at Fordyce.

In qualifying Wednesday afternoon Jerry Pruden earned the first spot against Camden, and twin brother Jimmy picked up second. Senior Doug Cross shot his way into the third position, and junior Mike Roberts won a sudden-death playoff over Kelly Eakley for the final berth. Ralph Routon qualified for the No. 1 place in the Fordyce lineup, but will miss the Camden match today to be in the junior play.

Fordyce should measure up about even with the locals, and they will have the home-course advantage. The nine-hole Fordyce CC layout measures near 3,000 yards with a par 37. Last year Hope split the series, winning 10½-7½ here and losing 11-7 away from home.

Next week the Hope golfers have one home date on Friday the 28th, with defending 4-AA champion Magnolia providing the opposition.

Track season officially opens for Hope tomorrow, with the locals' appearance in the tough Fairview Relays at Camden. Each event will be supplied with some of the state's best, and this competition should bring on some fine early-season times.

Hurdler Buzz Andrews, who won the 4-AA titles in the 120 highs and 180 lows for Hope last spring, has gotten off to a fine start this year for Ouachita Baptist University in Arkadelphia.

In the 120 highs, with the hurdles three inches higher than the high school level, Buzz has won in both meets thus far with a best of 15.5. More impressive though, is his showing in the 440 intermediates, a completely new race for him. Buzz also has not lost here, and has a good 57.0 timing to his credit already.

Youth Sentenced for Brutal Slaying

CHICAGO (AP) — Walter Montgomery, 18, found guilty of murdering a woman of 83 by throwing rum on her clothing and setting it ablaze, was sentenced to 100 to 200 years in prison.

The slaying of Mrs. Marie Smrz after a robbery occurred in her home last July 10. Pronouncing sentence Tuesday, Judge Daniel J. Ryan said to Montgomery:

"I'm wondering if in the future some parole board will show you mercy. You left her to die even though she begged to God for your mercy."

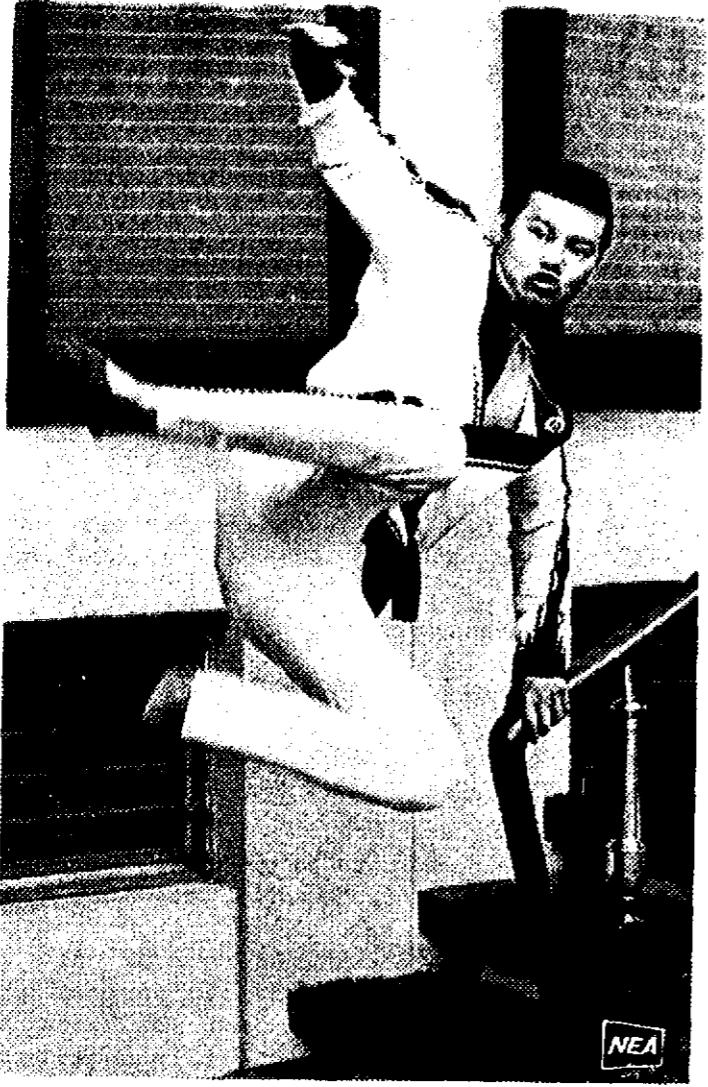

Expressions' Origins
The expressions, "burying the hatchet" and "digging up the hatchet," originated from the fact that Indians buried tomahawks when they made peace with an enemy and dug them up when they made war.

Grand Canyon Marks Pair of Anniversaries

By JIM CROSSLEY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"After entering it there is nothing to do but leave. Ours has been the first and will doubtless be the last party to visit the profitless locality."

That was a mean thing to say about the Grand Canyon. Besides, the explorer who said it—Lt. Joseph Ives in 1857—was as wrong as any prophet could be. There are about 1.8 million visits to this glorious wonder of the world each year.

This summer probably will ring up a record total because it is the canyon's birthday as a national park.

It was 50 years ago, 1919, that President Theodore Roosevelt pushed the legislation through. A leading conservationist, he had been working in this direction ever since he had been struck by the canyon's wonders on a visit in 1903.

Actually, the birthday of the park has passed. Feb. 23 was the date. There happens to be a second anniversary this year. The celebration will be held on that date.

Just 100 years ago, a fascinating daredevil and scientist, Major John Wesley Powell, plunged into the unknown to ride for the first time the white water rapids of the Colorado River threading the base of the gorge.

The adventure began May 24 and ended Aug. 30, 1869. Ceremonies will be held on Aug. 15 and 16 at the south rim of the canyon. These dates coincide with the Powell party's arrival at the ran underground much of the way.

Powell's exploit can be followed as he vividly reported it in his book, available at the public library. Though still a thrill, the trip is growing commonplace. As many as 10,000 persons have jarred and gyrated over the same rocks and roaring cascades since WW II. 3,000 last season.

Military surplus floating pontoons and other inflatable boats have made the trip safe and speedy.

The Big Show, the canyon, is a fascination for geologists, biologists, naturalists, conservationists, outdoor enthusiasts, artists and photographers.

"Well, partner!" growled North. "You just about won first prize for throwing the dummy."

"What do you mean?" replied South. "I know I could have made my contract by stripping my hand, running all my trumps and throwing West in with his last heart to make him lead diamond up to my ace-queen. But that play would fail if hearts were to divide 3-3 or if West should happen to unguard his king of diamonds. My play was much better. It would work against a 3-3 heart break or if the diamond finesse was on for me."

"Not that at all," said North. "I was referring to your play of the jack of hearts at trick one."

"How was I to know that East held the doubleton queen?" said South.

South's play at trick one was as bad as North thought it was. At slam contract you play as safely as possible to make the slam and disregard overtricks. You take the overtrick only if it comes with no risk.

South did not need to take a heart finesse. He would make his contract any time West held the queen. He should win the first heart with his king. Then, after drawing trumps, he would cash dummy's ace. This time the queen would drop and everything would be fine. But, if the queen did not drop, South could come back to his hand and lead a third heart toward dummy's jack. If West held the queen, this would set up the jack for a discard of the diamond queen.

Suppose East held the queen? If hearts were 3-3, the fourth heart would still set up. If East started with four or five to the queen, there would have been no way to develop three heart tricks but the diamond finesse would still be available to declarer.

David Wolper packed a lot of glamor and nostalgia into his "Hollywood: The Golden Years," bits and pieces from old movies tacked together with a witty narration.

Another in the category comes along on NBC tonight, "Hollywood: The Selznick Years." David O. Selznick, a producer of some very big movies including "Gone with the Wind," is a natural for a salute because he was also a star-maker.

In salutes, it is customary to present people—preferably celebrities—whose lives have touched the subject to build a flattering portrait.

The Selznick special will include clips from more than 20 of his movies and presumably warm reminiscences from some of the performers whose film careers he aided. Included will be Ingrid Bergman, Katharine Hepburn and Gregory Peck.

The program will be unusual in that it also will include comment from one performer who frankly admits little affection for the man although he gave her a start on a star's career: Joan Fontaine.

"David had us under contract for small salaries and then loaned us to other producers for large amounts of money," she said.

Miss Fontaine made, at the top, $1,000 a week with Selznick "when I worked," "Rebecca," the memorable film she made with Laurence Olivier, netted her only about $15,000.

Her sister Olivia de Havilland, who was in "Gone with the Wind" rebelled against the practice, Miss Fontaine said, and was suspended by the studio.

NBC, to avoid inevitable confusion, has changed the title of an upcoming series, from "The New People" to "The Bold Men." ABC has a series, also starting next September, called "The New People."

The NBC project will be the vehicle for the return of E. G. Marshall to weekly television for the first time since the end of his legal series, "The Defenders." This time he will play a dedicated doctor, the role played by Joseph Cotten in a "world premiere" film that served as pilot for the show.

It worked before, so the "Star Trek" fans are trying again to save the science-fiction series canceled by NBC at the end of the season.

STRENGTHEN THROUGH FAMILY TIES

Help Him Measure

Every man can help some boy to measure up; to keep his feet on the ground, his heart courageous and his compass pointed to the tasks ahead. And if it is my boy you have helped, I shall be everlastingly glad. Every father will join me in saying, "God Bless You." Best of all, the Heavenly Father will know and be quick to say, "My Son saved a world, and who knows what the son you help will do for good." Boys clubs and concerned women and men are contributing time and wealth to help your boy and mine start right. Every man can hold his head higher if he can remember that he helped a boy measure up to his true potential.

Works With Speech Problems

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Moon's Climate Unfriendly to Man

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Fantasies of 30 years ago about persons landing on the moon are soon to become reality. Finding a comfortable spot on the moon for colonization is, however, still pure fantasy. Even man-made machines will find the climate most unfriendly.

Here are some of the problems our space explorers will have to contend with. Since the total volume of the earth is 80 times as great as that of the moon, the latter is unable to retain a mixture of nitrogen, oxygen, carbon dioxide and water vapor such as that which envelops the earth. This atmosphere not only provides the elements needed to support both plant and animal life but also protects us from a high concentration of ultraviolet, infrared and cosmic rays and from small meteorites. Furthermore, the atmosphere is necessary to conduct sound and heat and to disperse light.

Q—I have constant head noises. My doctor is giving me Antivert. Now the tip of my tongue is sore. Could this be caused by the drug?

A—A variety of factors may cause sore tongue. Antivert is not one of them. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

On the moon, the days and nights each last about 14 of our days. During the day the temperature is about 135 and at night about -186. Severe as these extremes are, their hazards are increased by the fact that it takes only 15 minutes to go from one to the other. We can't be sure, however, that some heat- and cold-resistant germs that can live in a vacuum in a state of suspended animation are not ready to come out of their hibernation and infect us.

In order to survive on the moon, some means must be found to take a part of our friendly environment along ounced that five members of his family had been on the House payroll at various times during his 18 years in the legislature.

Crank said he was making it public because he understood supporters of Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller intended to make it a campaign issue.

It became a major issue and many political observers believe it figured prominently in Rockefeller's 30,000-vote victory.

Crank's wife and four of his children drew patronage checks during one session. One of his daughters received $100 a week when she was eight.

Crank had said it was not uncommon for legislators to dispense patronage to members of their families.

McDonald's letter came into the hands of newsmen Thursday during the investigation of a tip that one person on the House payroll, Mrs. M. M. Dawson, had been a bedfast patient in a nursing home for a year.

Mrs. Dawson's son, Rep. J. C. "Bud" Dawson of Conway, confirmed Thursday that his mother was in a nursing home. She said he had given her his patronage because "I'd rather give it to my mother than anybody I know of."

Dawson said every member of the House was receiving the patronage or at least had the opportunity to receive it.

He then produced a copy of McDonald's letter.

"I'm not getting any more money than any other member," Dawson said, "unless it's the money my wife received, but she works for it."

Mrs. Dawson, who works in the House stenographic pool, has been receiving a $112 weekly salary.

Records in the state auditor's office indicate that 58 representatives have been drawing the $140 weekly in their own names. They are:

Speaker Hayes McClellan, Jimmy Adcox, Cecil Alexander, Boyce Alford, Raymond Black, Leroy Blankenship, Jerry Bookout, Charles Boyce, Roscoe Brown, Ben Burton, Preston Bynum, R. A. "Doc" Caldwell Jr., Worth Camp Jr., C. C. Carlton, Harry Carter.

Lacy Landers, James Linder, John Lipton, Ode Maddox, F. B. Manatt, James Matthews, Lloyd C. McCullum Jr., Jimmie Don McKissack, John Miller, N. B. "Nap" Murphy, Bobby Newman, William R. Nicholson, Mrs. Gladys Martin Oglesby.

Danny Patrick, James Roberts, George S. Rodgers Jr., Loid Sadler, Andrew Schug, Vada Sheid, Thomas Sparks, James O. Stevens, Eugene Still, Julian Street, W. H. "Bill" Thompson, G. W. "Buddy" Turner and Gayle Windsor.

They also stopped at Camden's Technical School to see its facilities.

According to Counselor Downs, "It has been a most beneficial program and should help in making plans for improvement of the curriculum and for understanding the needs of our college-bound students."

Speech therapy for younger students is carried on through speech games. Groups of less than five are preferred in playing these games in which students are divided into groups according to the speech problem.

Speech therapy for older students is carried on through speech games. Groups of less than five are preferred in playing these games in which students are divided into groups according to the speech problem.

Miss Livingston stated that one of the major problems she has with public relations is that many people have the impression that only children with low IQ's have speech problems. Contrary to this belief, children with both high and low IQ's can have speech problems.

She also said that soon she hoped to be able to help students in other Hope schools.

and 155mm guns on the enemy positions. Helicopter gunships fired rockets as one of the camp's guns illuminated the enemy batteries with flares.

All the Americans killed were victims of the bombardment. Six were members of a mortar platoon trying to hit the enemy mortars. The other four were riflemen in a bunker that took a direct hit.

Two infantry assaults were made on the south and east sides of the base within 90 minutes, but they were small, officers said. Thirty enemy troops were repulsed in the first thrust, while 15 to 20 North Vietnamese failed to find an opening in the second assault.

Only 12 of the 28 Americans wounded had to be evacuated. The rest were treated and returned to duty.

The base is one of four artillery and patrol camps along the southern edge of the Viet Cong's War Zone which impede the enemy approach to Saigon from the northwest.

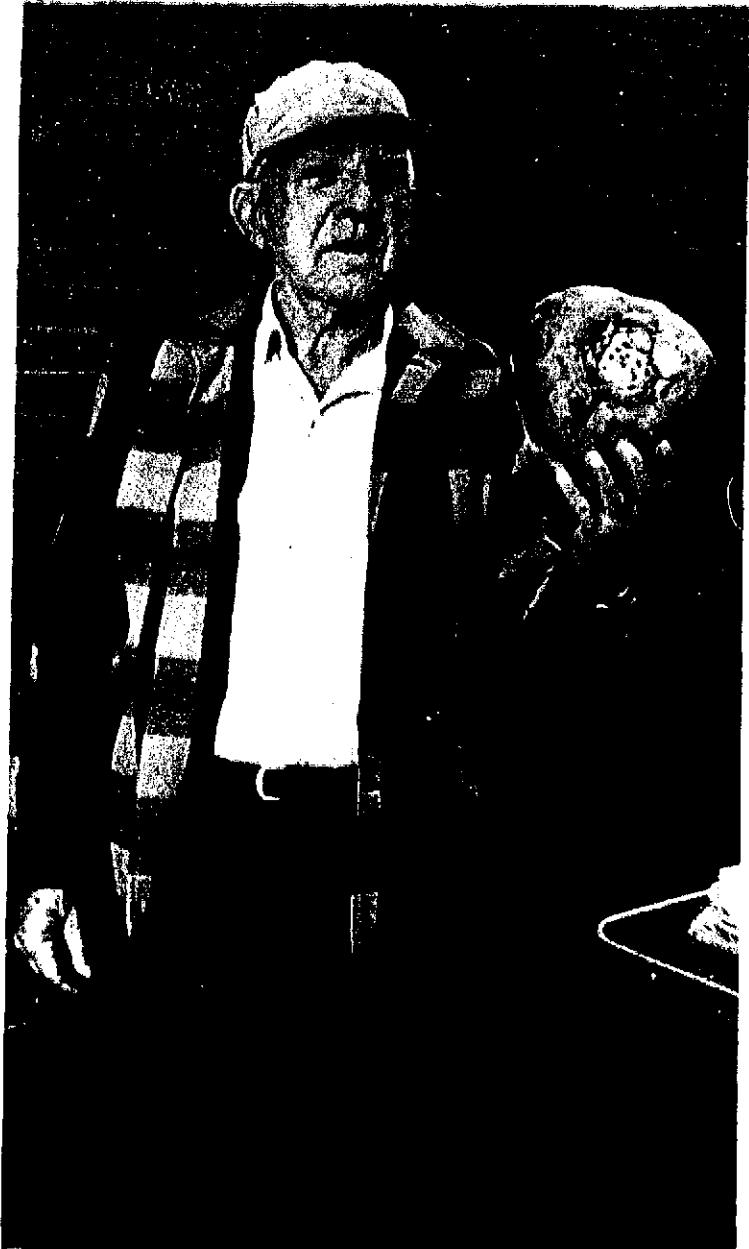

White Base is just north of the Michelin rubber plantation where more than 10,000 Americans and South Vietnamese troops and scores of tanks are trying to root out an estimated 7,500 North Vietnamese threatening Saigon, U.S. intelligence officers said. The purpose of the attack on the base apparently was to tie down the artillery batteries while North Vietnamese troops tried to maneuver away from American ground forces closing on them.

House members are paid $100 a month during their two-year term and they also draw $20 per day for expenses during a regular and $6 per day during a special session.

The House has already passed a bill which would allow its members to draw up to $200 a month for "white relations expenses." They currently have before them a separate bill which would provide the same amount of money for expenses for both representatives and senators.

negotiations.

"I believe this system is no stumbling block to arms limitation talks as far as the Soviet Union is involved," the defense secretary said.

He said such negotiations are being considered at the highest level of government—by Nixon.

"I can assure you that it is under active consideration," he said.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., who said he has doubts about the system, raised the question of the ABM as a bargaining table topic.

"Is it correct that the presently planned Safeguard system is a negotiable issue?" he asked.

"Yes, it is," Laird replied. He said he hopes both offensive and defensive weapons systems will be covered by such negotiations.

It was not clear, however, whether Laird meant the whole ABM system could be scrapped if the Russians scrapped theirs.

Furthermore, Laird said, the Sentinel deployment launched by former President Lyndon B. Johnson "was potentially provocative" because it was designed to protect cities.

"As such it appeared to us to be a step toward, rather than away from, an escalation of the arms race," he said.

Another critic of the new ABM system, Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., told Laird his system was "a defense in search of a mission." And he said the mission had not been discovered.

But Gore also hinted at the expected barrage being prepared by critics when he said that after the administration presents its case for a modified Sentinel antiballistic missile (ABM) system, "we'll examine it."

By appearing before the disarmament group, Laird, after two days of testimony before the friendly Armed Services Committee, shifted to a hotbed of Senate opposition.

In fact, one of the few rough spots before the Armed Services Committee was a fusillade of critical questions Thursday from Missouri Democrat Stuart Symington who ended up by saying:

"I'm a little embarrassed at being the only gentleman here who is critical of the program."

In a sense, the opening round of the debate became a battle of television ratings. Laird's Thursday testimony, at what originally was to have been a closed Armed Services Committee session, was nationally televised.

Laird blended his insistence that the Nixon system is a national defense necessity with the argument that it will not impede the arms control negotiations the President seeks.

He said, in fact, that it should prove an incentive to successful

Taxpayer Revolt
Is Nation-Wide;
Star Visitors

This is a postscript to Lester Wade's letter in yesterday's edition and our editorial of March 17 on the taxpayers' revolt in Arkansas, which Mr. Wade was commenting on.

In the March 17th piece noted parallel taxpayer revolts in Louisiana and Arkansas, the legislature tearing to pieces a governor's program of tax increases in both states. But this revolt isn't merely local or regional — it is nation-wide, according to the authoritative Wall Street Journal in its edition of Wednesday, March 19.

In its Tax Report column the WSJ headlined Gov. Rockefeller's resounding rebuff in Arkansas, but detailed almost identical action in the larger states as well. Here is a summary:

In Pennsylvania Gov. Shafer proposed to increase the state sales tax to 3 per cent, but in a private caucus not one of his 96 fellow Republicans in the House of Representatives would agree to support the hike.

In Massachusetts Gov. Sargent asked for a tax increase of 143 millions and angry taxpayers rained tea-bags on the legislators — replaying the historic Tea Party of colonial days in Boston Harbor.

Cincinnati, Ohio, proposed a one-half per cent city sales tax but it was promptly referred to a referendum by a petition that 63,000 taxpayers signed.

Reading correctly the signs of public revolt seven state governors, headed by California's Reagan, refused to recommend tax increases.

Pressure groups like the Arkansas Education Association are making threatening sounds against the state government — overlooking the fact that what they have to contend with isn't merely the legislature but the people, to whom the legislators are responsible, and who by referendum can override the legislators on any material tax increases. In the face of this certainty in 1969 the General Assembly has rebuffed Gov. Rockefeller's tax program, just as the governor will be rebuffed by the people should he take it into another campaign.

The Arkansas Education Association never has been noted for making smart tax proposals — but its worst mistake was this year when it insisted that Arkansas had to have a 4 per cent sales tax.

Such a proposal would have guaranteed a state-wide petition, referendum, and defeat.

This newspaper would have accepted necessary increases in other taxes — but not on the sales tax. That's the one that has been repeatedly raised and rigged against the poorest class of citizens while other levies affecting the middle class and rich have remained untouched.

With this, we are fed up.

Thursday The Star hosted the executives of still another newspaper which is studying the conversion of its plant to the offset printing process, installed by The Star at the end of 1965.

Yesterday's visitors spent the whole day with us: Calvin Mannen, general manager; and Garner Allen, news editor, of the Stuttgart Daily Leader. A week ago we had the executives of the Malvern Daily Record — and before that, the last couple of years, newspaper publishers from elsewhere in Arkansas, and Texas, Oklahoma, and Mississippi.

Mrs. Haynes urges all those who missed the tour last Sunday to visit Pioneer Washington this weekend and enjoy this scenic beauty of nature.

House Builders Figure 17 Indicted for Part in Chicago Riots

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — If you plan to buy a house this spring, forget about last year's prices and don't laugh when the salesman tells you "this place is a steal at $40,000."

Higher interest charges on mortgages, higher taxes and insurance and rising costs of lumber and other materials have sent house prices skyrocketing. More increases are in prospect.

"Costs have gone up 10 per cent in the last year," said Milton Brock of M.J. Brock & Sons, Los Angeles-based.

The president of predominantly Negro Lane College, Dr. C.A. Kirkendoll, said, "I personally believe it was arson." Lane reopened eight days ago after a 10-day shutdown due to a student boycott, extensive vandalism and other suspicious fires.

Kirkendoll said he thought the fire was "triggered" at a campus meeting called by the Black Liberation Front. The fire department reported no injuries in the blaze.

At San Francisco State, the Black Students Union ended a 4½-month strike during which there were fire bombings and mass arrests. A settlement was negotiated with school President S.I. Hayakawa, who said he would announce details today.

The settlement called for a school of ethnic studies and increased enrollment of minority group students.

Officials at Denver West High School said a teacher who was termed a "racist" by students would be transferred at his re-

Not Hard to Mistake a Him for a Her or a Her for a Him Now

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Have you been embarrassed lately by mistaking a him for a her, or a her for a him?

Well, don't let it worry you. It's happening to everybody. Such mixups are quite normal, considering how much alike the two sexes think, talk, dress, act and look today.

It all started some years ago when the boys started imitating the girls. Now it is somewhat difficult to be sure who is imitating whom.

However, despite the present complexity of the problem, it is still possible for a careful student of human behavior to determine the sex of most of those he meets. There are always tips off of one kind or another.

Here are a few hints to guide the puzzled:

If it likes to gossip with its hairdresser while getting its tresses trimmed, it's a girl. If it closes its eyes and dozes the moment it sits down in a barber chair, it's a guy.

Does it wear an itty-bitty watch surrounded by diamond chips? That's a young lady. Does it wear a larger watch with a metal or leather band? That's a young man.

If it can sew on a button without sticking the needle into its fingers, it's a woman. If it complains about how tired it is from sowing wild oats, it's a man.

So it like a tuna fish or peanut butter and jelly sandwich for lunch? Chances are it's feminine. Would it rather have a ham and egg sandwich? Chances are it's masculine.

Does it rush out to the icebox to get a cold beer at every third commercial break? That's the papa. Does it simply murmur acidly, "Soon or later you're going to turn into a beer can?" That's the mama.

Choice of words is sometimes an indication. If it says it's going to work, it's a Joe. If, preferring to employ a euphemism, it says it "goes to business," it's a career Jane.

If it likes to gossip with its hairdresser while getting its tresses trimmed, it's a girl. If it closes its eyes and dozes the moment it sits down in a barber chair, it's a guy.

Does it count the years, months, days, hours and minutes until it will be able to retire? That's grandpa. Does it say in exasperation, "You know you'd never be happy just sitting around the house doing nothing?" That's grandma.

If it can sew on a button without sticking the needle into its

Black Student Group Has Called Quits on Disrupting Campus

By JIM CHURCH
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Black Students Union has called quits on a strike which disrupted the San Francisco State College campus for 4½ months, with frequent violence and 700 arrests.

The end was signaled by two leaders of the walkout — Union Chairman Benny Stewart and Jerry Varnado — in an unheralded announcement Thursday at the school cafeteria.

Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, acting president, said he would detail terms of the settlement today.

The strike — led by nonwhite students — began Nov. 6 with upwards of 2,000 marchers. But support declined steadily at the 16,000-student campus during the past two months, which saw several fire bombings, window breakings and confrontations with police.

A major remaining obstacle is the demand by some Negro faculty members and administrators, the Black Students Union and the Third World Liberation Front that Dr. Nathan Hare, a Negro, be retained as head of the black studies department.

Hare was one of the demonstration leaders. When he interrupted Hayakawa's welcoming speech at the semester opening he was told he would not be re-hired after June 30.

Dr. Joseph White, dean of undergraduate studies and a Negro, reiterated, "We are recommending again that Dr. Hare be

TB Sanatorium Closed Down

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The last patient in a Michigan tuberculosis sanatorium has been discharged, ending more than six decades of state treatment affected with the lung disease, the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Association reports.

It said this resulted from drugs that have sharply reduced the length of hospitalization required.

Twelve county and city hospitals throughout the state currently care for about 900 patients, the association added.

Laird Says New Missile Plan Better

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird denied today that the administration dropped the old Sentinel missile defense project because of public protests, insisting that the change came "because we have a better system."

Laird said discussion of a shift from city defenses to the Safeguard system, President Nixon's plan to defend U.S. offensive nuclear bases with anti-ballistic missiles (ABM), was underway even before the public protests against deployment near Boston, Chicago and Seattle.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., told Laird it appeared to him the protests had led to re-examination of the missile defense program and the shift to a completely different mission.

But Laird, defending the administration plan before members of a critical Senate foreign relations subcommittee, said the public protests were only

Legislature Patronage Old Issue

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas House Efficiency Committee devised prior to the current legislative session a plan under which each House member could draw $1,200 for patronage.

The plan was revealed to members in a letter from the committee chairman, Rep. Sean McDonald of Sheridan, dated Dec. 20, 1968.

Thus far, records in the auditor's office reflect that more than half of the members have drawn some or all of the money.

Three methods by which the representatives could receive the money were suggested in the letter — collection of a lump sum at the end of the session, by drawing $140 weekly in his own name, or by placing the name of some other person on the House payroll at $140 a week.

The letter indicated that a patronage had presented problems for former Rep. Marion H. Crank during his race for governor last fall.

"During the recent Democratic campaign, it became obvious that some longtime practice of the House had been misrepresented to the public," McDonald wrote in the letter.

Crank, the Democratic nominee, called a news conference last October at which he announced
